BULLS OUTLOOK-1975

NBA Basketball is the Sport of the 70's and the Chicago BULLS are the team of the 70's. Consider a few facts about the BULLS on the eve of their 10th season in the NBA:

- In the 70's the BULLS are the only NBA team to win 47 or more games every season!
- In the 70's the BULLS regular season victories ranks them 3rd in the NBA.
- In the 70's Chicago is the only NBA city which has automatically qualified for the Playoffs every year!
- In the 70's the BULLS have won 72% of their home games.
- In the 70's Dick Motta is the only NBA Coach to guide his team to the Playoffs every season.

The BULLS face the 1975-76 season armed with a winning tradition, stability on the floor and in the coaching ranks, tremendous fan support and fresh from their first Midwest Division Championship.

The stability on the court begins with a returning group of veterans who have more experience than any club in the NBA. Six returning players are former NBA All-Stars and they average 10 years of experience behind them. Yet all the veterans will be pushed by a group of second and first year players who Coach Motta thinks have great futures in the NBA.

Motta feels the backcourt could be the club's strongest position. "We know what Jerry (Sloan), 6-5 and Norman (Van Lier), 6-1 can do. When they're fresh and healthy there're few tandems in the league that work harder at both ends of the court."

Keeping Sloan and Van lier fresh is one of Motta's goals for the coming season. Assistant Coach Ed Badger groomed second-year guards Leon Benbow, 6-4 and Bob Wilson, 6-3 extensively during the six-week Southern California Summer League and the improvement was obvious. Benbow averaged 18.5 and handed out 5 assists a game while earning a place on the All-Veteran team alongside Paul Westfal of Phoenix. Wilson led the BULLS in scoring with a 26.7 mark and was much improved in defense and ball-handling fundamentals.

Battling for the other big guard position are veteran Matt Guokas 6-6, seeking to rebound from a disappointing Playoffs. After a fine regular season, and rookie John Laskowski 6-6 from Indiana University. Laskowski was a standout on Hoosier's team as a 6th man and has that rare ability to come off the bench and make things happen in a hurry.

Center is another spot Motta feels secure about with a healthy Tom Boerwinkle 6-11 coming back with a year of experience in the BULLS' system under his belt and 6-11 Nate Thurmond vowing to rebound from a sub-pay year.

"I expect a fierce battle between Tom and Nate for the starting job. "Motta said with a grin. There's no two classier guys in the league and they complement each other very well."

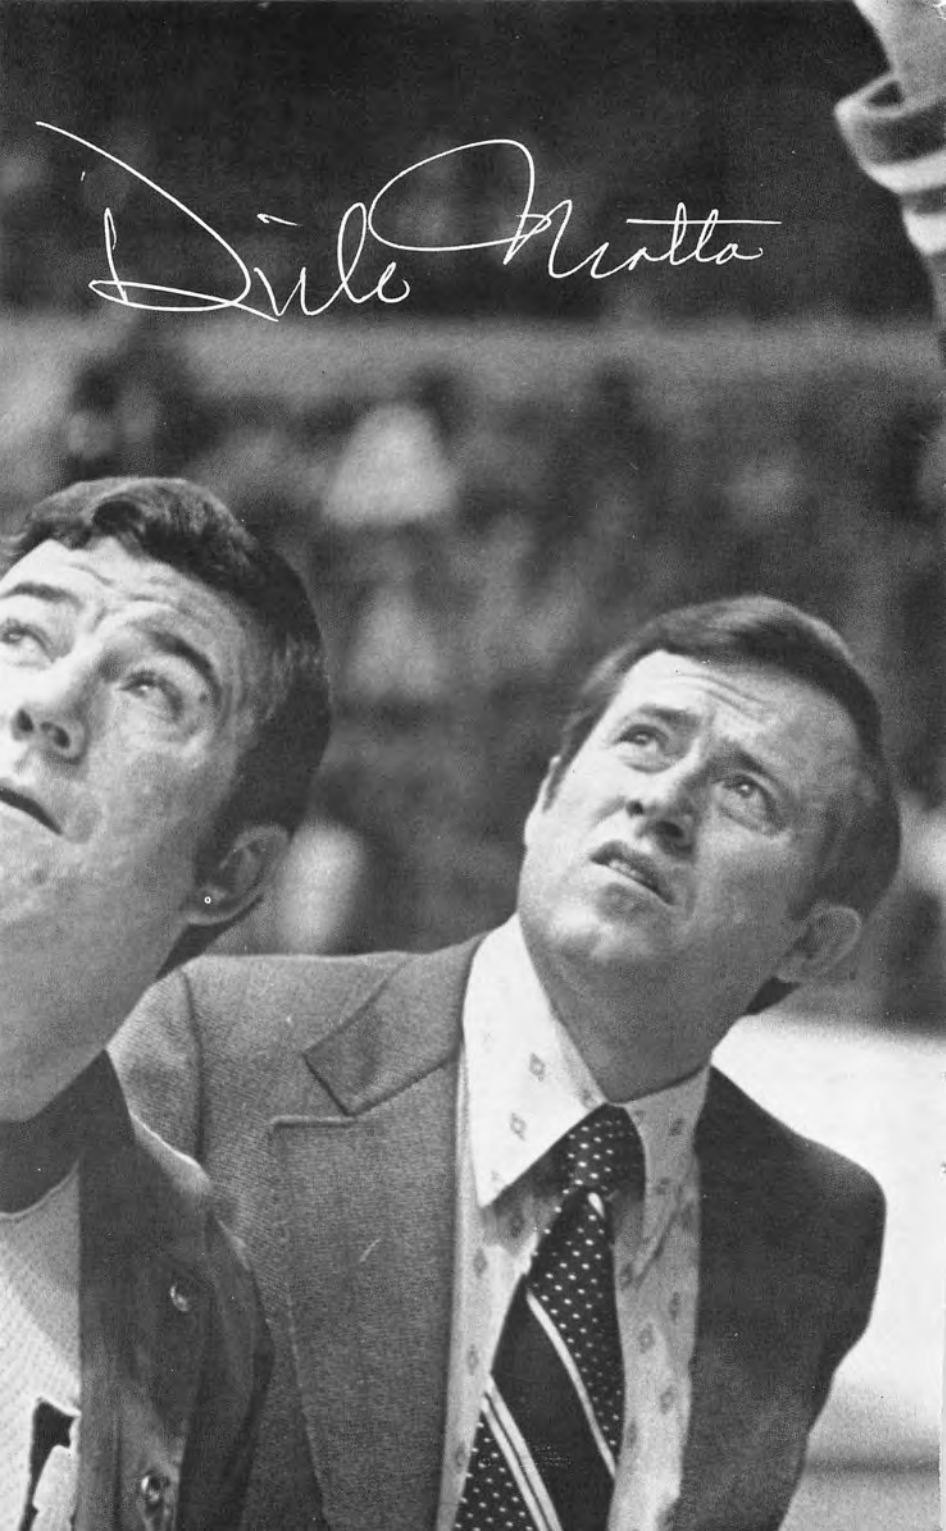
Motta has no worries at one forward with the presence of perennial top score Bob Love. The 6-8 veteran led the team in scoring last year with a 22-point average and is recognized as one of the league's top defenders. However, for the first time in 7 years Motta won't have the welcome sight of number 25, Chet Walker, meeting has gaze from the bench. The burden of replacing the 7-time All-Star will rest squarely on the broad shoulders of 21-year old rookie Cliff Pondexter. At 6-9, 230 Pondexter is one of the most potentially imposing players in the franchise's history, and he showed he was recovered from last season's leg injury while earning All-Rookie honors in the rugged Southern California Summer Pro League.

"He'll have to earn the starting job," Motta emphasizes, and competition will come from veterans Rowland Garrett, 66, John Block, 6-10 and Mickey Johnson, 6-9. Fred Foster, acquired from Cleveland in the off season also is contending along with three rookies, Ron Haigler, 6-8, and Bob Iverson, 6-6.

Johnson was spectacular in the Southern California league scoring at a 23 point clip, hitting the boards for 11 rebounds a contest and topping the loop in field goal percentage with 63%. Garrett and Block both performed well in spots last year, but had sub-par playoffs. The need for a consistent showing at the third forward spot had Motta taking a long look at the lengthy roster of forwards in training camp.

"The third forward and guard are crucial positions on any NBA team," Motta asserted. "All you have to do is look at Golden State in the playoffs to realize how important a strong bench can be. We'll work hard at building our bench this year, and I think we've got the talent and experience among our younger players to give us the most depth we've ever enjoyed."

Motta cites the overall improvement of the league as one of the problems facing the BULLS and other perennially strong teams. "There are no soft touches in the NBA anymore. The expansion teams have grown up and the day when you could count on 3 or 4 season series sweeps to pad your record are gone. No one can be taken lightly, and regardless of what some people think, the Midwest Division, where we play more than a fourth of our games, will still be highly competitive."



Dick Motta

MEET THE BULLS

DICK MOTTA

Dick Motta has seen almost everything in his seven years as National Basketball Association head coach. The one thing that's eluded him going into Year 8 is the biggie—a World Championship for his Chicago Bulls. Twice in the last three years the Bulls were on the threshold. Both times they came up short in playoff defeats that wrote a new meaning for the word "heart-breaking".

Not only is the Little Giant back after a summer vacation, refreshed and full of optimism, but he's more hopeful than ever. The frustration of 1974-75's nerve-wracking finish? "That wasn't my biggest disappointment in the NBA," he replies. "The seventh-game loss to the Lakers in LA (April 15,1973) was. We had a pass into the finals that year and let it get away. But with all the problems and frustrations, coaching in the NBA has been a hell of an experience for me," Motta summed up. "I'd be a liar if I said I didn't enjoy coaching. The main reason I came to Chicago was to use it as a stepping stone for a better college coaching job. Seven years - I never expected to last that long"

So Motta even fooled himself. Next to the Knick's Red Holzman, he shares with Milwaukee's Larry Costello the longest NBA coaching tenure with the same club. In the pressure cooker of major league competition, that's real distinction. Even more so is his career pro mark of 332-242, forged without the presence of a superstar like the Bucks had in Kareem Abdul-Jabbar when they dominated the Midwest Division. Motta's Chicago teams haven't been as untalented as some critics painted them, but their success always hinged on total effort, with everybody on the floor making a significant contribution.

"A lot of people just remember what happened in the playoffs and say 'the Bulls blew it.' As far as I'm concerned, it was the best year we ever had and the most successful one for me as a coach. With all the problems we had early in the season, we still won 47 games and were one step away from a shot at the whole thing. If everybody had been there in training camp, I really believe we'd have won 60 games and that World Championship everybody in Chicago is so hungry for. Nobody wants it more than me and my team. All that happened last spring seems like 50 years ago to me. This is now, a new season, and I think the Bulls are going to be there when the playoffs start, just like they always are."

"Only one can make it all the way," points out Motta, whose optimism never loses touch with reality. "The rest go home unhappy."

"I want to know how it feels to be one alone at the top."

MEET THE BULLS

ED BADGER–Assistant Coach and Head Scout–Beginning his third season with the BULLS and first as full-time member of the organization. Helped guide the BULLS to their first Midwest Division title in his first full season working with Motta. Motta calls Badger, "The best scout in pro basketball."

A native of Western New York, Badger is a graduate of the University of Iowa where he twice lettered in basketball.

In 16 seasons as head coach at Wilbur Wright Junior College he won 352 and lost 110–good for 7th place on the all-time junior college won-lost list.

IRWIN MANDEL–Controller and Financial Officer–Irwin is 33 years old and a native Chicagoan. Irwin's responsibilities with the Bulls are in the financial, accounting, and tax areas.

He joined the Bulls' organization January 1, 1973, after four years in the tax department at Arthur Andersen & Company. Prior to this, Irwin attended Northwestern University and graduated from its law school and undergraduate school.

He is a member of the Illinois Bar and a CPA.

Mandel resides in Highland Park with his wife, Sheri and son, Michael.

BOB DAVIS–Ticket Manager–The Northfield, Ill., native is starting his second season with the club. A graduate of Ohio University's school of business where he was on the dean's list and received an acdemic scholarship. Prior to joining the Bulls he worked for Northwestern University's athletic department and the Chicago Fire of the WFL.

MEET THE BULLS

MIKE McCLURE–Director of Marketing/Public Relations–Starting third season with Bulls organization after three years as Director of Big Ten Service Bureau.

A native Chicagoan, he graduated from DePauw University and previously worked for the City News Bureau, Chicago Tribune, People Gas Company, and a Lafayette, Ind., television station.

Big Ten publications he produced won back-to-back "Best in the Nation" honors from the College Sports Information Directors in 1972 and 1973. He was selected for inclusion in the 1973 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America. In 1974 the Chicago Jaycees honored him as one of Chicago's Ten Outstanding Young Citizens.

DOUG ATKINSON–Trainer–Starting first season with the Bulls after previous stints with the California Angels and Los Angeles Dodgers. A native of Longview, Texas, Atkinson attended the University of Texas at El Paso and earned a B.S. degree in biology and an M.S. in Health and Physical Education and Education. The 26-year old bachelor also will handle the duties of traveling secretary for the Bulls.

LORN BROWN–Color Commentator and Analyst–A 15-year broadcasting veteran who joins the BULLS telecast team this season. A native Chicagoan, Brown attended Mt. Carmel High School and Illinois Central College.

A member of the Illinois Basketball Hall of Fame, Brown has done play-by-play for Bradley, Drake and Illinois State basketball and the St. Louis Cardinals baseball team.

RADIO VOICE OF BULLS

JIM DURHAM

WIND Radio will again serve at the Bull's radio outlet in Chicagoland in 1975-76 and all 82-games – home and away – will be brought to you by Jim Durham, the "Voice of the Bulls."

Durham joined the Bulls' team 2 years ago and drew immediate rave notices for his professionalism and style. The 28-year old Chicago native began his broadcasting career in 1965 with the campus radio station at Illinois State University.

He was sports director of a station in Normal, Ill., and then moved to Peoria where he worked until entering military service.

Following his discharge he worked in Salina, Kan., before returning to Illinois as sports director of WJBC in Bloomington. Durham covered Illinois State football and basketball before joining the WIND staff.

VIDEO VOICE OF BULLS

ANDY MUSSER

Veteran sportscaster Andy Musser begins his third season of handling the play-by-play telecasts of Bulls' road games. A ten-year veteran of pro basketball announcing, Musser was with the Philadelphia 76ers for 7-seasons and also was the television announcer for the New York Jets.

A native of Lemoyne, Pa., Musser graduated from Syracuse University and has been involved in broadcasting since he won a "Junior Sportscaster" contest at age 18.

Musser is sports director of a San Diego, Cal., TV station and also broadcasts the San Diego Chargers NFL games. Formerly he was a network announcer for CBS in New York.

How Acquired: From Cincinnati for Jim Fox in 1971

Despite missing the first 11 games of the season "Storming Norman" enjoyed his second most productive offensive season...His career high of 42 points came in January against Seattle and he also was named to the second All-Defensive team after being the leading votegetter on the guard line the previous season...A Chicago favorite who's loved by the fans for his aggressive, uninhibited style of play...Turned in superb defensive job on Nate Achibald of Kansas City in the Playoffs...Needs to control his temper and he knows it. Vows to keep his cool this season and lose the title of "Most Technicals" which he's had a lock on for several years...One of the biggest thrills was being named to NBA All-Star team in 1974...Annually ranks near the top in assists and rebounds for a guard...Norm bought a camper and a pickup truck and spent the summer in the backwoods and mountains of Pennsylvania and New Jersey...At 28 should be reaching his peak which spells trouble for BULLS' foes.

Nicknamed "Butterbean" since he developed a fondness for them as a child ...Came to BULLS in one of NBA's most lopsided deals...Has led club in scoring for six straight seasons with a tops of 25.8 in 1971-72...Missed first 20 games last year but came back strong...By his own admission he's not a shooter, but a scorer...Paced BULLS' 6-game win over KC-Omaha in Playoffs last year with 30 point average...Named to NBA All-Star squad three times and 4-time All-Defensive team second unit selection...Member of coveted 10,000 Point Club and holder of BULLS' single game Playoff high of 38...Once had two 49 point nights back-to-back against Milwaukee and KC-Omaha... A tireless performer who always is among the team leaders in minutes played ...Butter's biggest fans are his wife, Betty, and four children who seldom miss a big game at the stadium.

"Long Tom" was a cinch for "Comeback of the Year" honors last year if such an award existed in the NBA...Hadn't seen any significant action since being felled by a knee injury at the tail end of the 1971-72 season...Teamed with Nate Thurmond to provide BULLS with solid 1-2 punch in the pivot...Holds team records for most rebounds in a single game (37), single season (1133) and single Playoff game (24)...Topped all NBA centers in assists per minute with 272 in only 1175 minutes of play...Considered one of game's best passers and despite lack of jumping ability he more than compensates with skill at blocking out underneath...A self-made player who didn't play high school ball till his senior year...Polished his game at Tennessee under Ray Mears and led the Southeastern Conference in boards as a senior...A commodities broker in the offseason, Tom and his wife, Linda, welcomed their first child, daughter Gretchen, last December.

One of NBA's all-time greats now entering his 13th season...sub-par year offensively tended to obscure his contributions on defense...Set BULLS team marks for blocked shots in a game (12) and a season (195)...Set career best of 328 assists and hauled down 904 rebounds...In first game as a BULL he scored 22 points, had 14 rebounds, 8 assists and 12 blocked shots...Single game highs of 43 points and 43 rebounds and membership in 10,000 point and 10,000 rebound club rank him with the best...Named to NBA All-Star team on 7 occasions...A bachelor, Nate is a dapper dresser with a Rolls Royce and owns a well-known San Francisco restaurant, the Beginning... Considered the key to a good year for the BULLS.

MEMO

TO: CHICAGO AND NBA MEDIA

FROM: MIKE McCLURE

DATE: OCTOBER 24, 1975

Welcome to the Chicago BULLS' 10th anniversary in the NBA. We again hope to accomodate you as efficiently as possible. The following are some of the services we provide and some favors we ask of you.

Members of the Working Press, not normally covering the BULLS, are asked to notify us at least 24 hours in advance of a game you plan to cover. All Working Press request for credentials are on a first-come, first-serve basis. In the event the main floor press seating is full, we will place you in the auxilliary press box on the second level of the west end of the stadium. All non-working media will be assigned to the auxilliary press box.

All Working Press should enter the stadium through Gate 3½. A pre-game snack will be served ONLY to holders of NBA or BULLS' Gold season passes.

We will provide you with the following information prior to, during and after the game:

Lineups, NBA standings and current schedule. Cumulative statistics for both teams. Note of human and statistical interest. BULLS' game-by-game results and attendance. Running score and individual leaders by quarter. Halftime and final box and coaches' quotes from the dressing room.

All of the information will be dispensed as it becomes available and a limited number of full sets will be in the auxialliary press box following the game.

All request for statistics and interviews should be made at least 24 hours prior to the game.

We ask your cooperation and if I can be of further assistance, please contact me.
